

ACCP Critical Care PRN Member Spotlight – Fourth Quarter 2019

Jolie Gallagher, PharmD
Clinical Pharmacy Specialist – Acute Respiratory Care ICU
PGY1 Residency Coordinator
Emory University Hospital – Atlanta, Georgia

Impact on the PRN:

She is instrumental in gathering award materials and ensuring PRN members are appropriately nominated and coordinating plans within the Recognition Committee. Her new ideas and willingness to help with any task make her an invaluable member of this committee.

Post-graduate Training:

PGY-1 & PGY2 Emory University Hospital

Research Interests:

Professionally, I am interested in extracorporeal life support systems, management of sepsis, acute respiratory distress syndrome, and management of pain, agitation, and delirium. With residents, I precept research projects recently including a comparison of citrate protocols and duration of CRRT filter life and a comparison of hypertonic saline strategies for cerebral edema management in patients with acute liver failure.

Why ACCP's Critical Care PRN?

I became a member as a student and have loved being involved since I started. Both provide a great group of mentors and colleagues who help encourage and grow pharmacists at every level. The PRN is very supportive of its members and provides a number of opportunities to network and advance our profession. I love being involved in the PRN because it helps keep me plugged into my career!

What do you enjoy doing in your free time?

I enjoy spending as much time as possible with my husband and dogs in the North Georgia Mountains, on a lake, or floating down a river depending on the season. I also enjoy attending any one of the numerous spring, summer, and fall festivals held in various neighborhoods near my home.

- Thank you for everything you have done for the PRN, Jolie! -
